General Information

We take retreat applications on a first come first serve basis. If the current retreat you are requesting is full we will place your name on a waiting list for the next one.

On the retreat weekend each individual will have their own private bedroom while the bathroom facilities will be shared. Meals will be provided as well as towels and linens for the stay. We often provide yoga and art however the activities for each retreat are subject to availability.

Directions to the retreat will be released prior to departure. We ask that you share the retreat location only with your emergency contact.

In order to protect our clients and to keep the retreat location private we ask that all attendees refrain from taking pictures and disclosing personal and private information regarding other attendees. To respect each attendee's recovery process we ask that any mood altering substances be left at home.

When finished filling out the form please return it to us at raeol@outlook.com
